HELD YESTERDAY

Flowers and Flags Placed On Graves at Cornwells Hts., and Tullytown

Large crowds attended the Memorial services both at Cornwells Heights and Tullytown, yesterday, with the local groups of school children and residents in each instance being augmented by the Robert W. Bracken Post, 382, American Legion, the American Legion Auxiliary, the Legion Cadet Corps, the members of Col. J. M. Gosline Camp, Sons of Veterans.

The cemeteries in both towns were visited, with flowers being placed on the flag-decked graves of deceased soldiers. Appropriate services were conducted.

Before the services at Tullytown, the school children met the organizations at the lower end of the borough, and marched to the cemetery. The line of march was headed by the color bearers, followed by the American Legion Cadets bugle corps, and members of Col. J. M. Gosline Camp, Sons of Veterans. The public school pupils were next in line, then members of the American Legion.

At the cemetery the services were opened by a prayer by the chaplain of the Sons of Veterans, followed by song "My Own Native Land," school children, accompanied by harmonica music by Patty Clay and Laura Bachofer; recitation, "The Man Who Knew Lincoln," John Zucker, William Hubbs, Richard Davis, Samuel Doto, William Tyrell, and Gene Mather; recitation, "Little Patriots," Joseph Napoli; recitation, "Memorial Day," Laura Bachofer, Mary Carman, Shirley Wright, Margaret Markey, Marie Napoli and Helen Luscianni; pantomime, "The Star-Spangled Banner," Christine Johnson, Clara Lavenberg, Betty and Ruth Bachofer, Mary Doto, Lottie Termyna, Rose Luscianni, Viola Shaffer, Julia Spangler, Doris Nelson, Dorothy Polak. Music was furnished by the school harmonica band, composed of Patty Clay, Laura Bachofer, Doris Hirst, Lillian Hirst, Pauline Heller and Sonia Johnson.

The address was delivered by the Rev. Alexander McConaughy, pastor of Tullytown M. E. Church. He brought out the work which has been carried on by members of the G. A. R., who are now few in number. "The mantle of their work has now fallen on members of the Sons of Veterans to honor the dead, and fight the good fight."

The Rev. McConaughy then spoke of the American Legion, and its accomplishments in France, and told of the responsibilities toward their government and country. The Constitution, he brought out, has stood for 150 years, and will still stand the test of time.

Three volleys were fired over the graves of the soldiers. Taps were then sounded.

INTERESTING GAME

The baseball fans saw one of the best games played here this season when the strong North Phils went down to defeat at the hands of Johnny Mulholland's Bristol A. A. boys by the score of 4 to 1. Johnny Dick, former Bristol high school star, was on the hill and backed by errorless support held the Philadelphia club to 4 hits. Charles Ibrig won the game in the sixth inning when he put one into Leedom's front yard. Eastlack brought the fans to their feet with a bair raising catch on the run. Both Dick and Calahine pitched good ball.

ARE ON CORAL ISLES

By Ralph B. Jordan

LOS ANGELES, May 25—(INS)—The United States Fleet is busy at its annual war games in Panama waters, but the minds of the Fleet's most astute strategists are concerned more with a few dots of land stretched across the Pacific westward from Hawaii to Midway, 1,200 miles, and southward for 2,400 miles from Hawaii to Samoa.

The Hawaiian Islands, 2,400 miles from the United States mainland, form the great line of defense to protect this country from attack by powers in the Asiatic. The island of Oahu (Honolulu and Pearl Harbor) is among the most heavily fortified in the world, and Pearl Harbor is one of the world's greatest naval bases.

American naval experts are positive that no alien fleet could attack the United States without first leveling the defenses of Hawaii—no fleet, with its transports of soldiers to fight land battles later, could go past Hawaii and let the American war craft get on its tail. And as for leveling Hawaii—the experts smile in confidence, although they do advocate sincerely some much needed improvements in Pearl Harbor.

But right now their eyes are focused in all eagerness on the strings of Pacific islands mentioned above. Before the airplane became a weapon of defense these islands were neglected except by fertilizer manufacturers, who sent ships to them occasionally to collect guano deposits. However, recently, nations with interests in the Pacific have become sharply concerned about these bits of land—they can be used for airplane bases.

Using Hawaii as a base, United States military planes could operate southward for 2,400 miles, westward for 1,200 miles, and northward to the projected American base in the Aleutian islands.

This would give Uncle Sam eyes in the air to watch the entire Pacific area through which an unfriendly neighbor might come—watch and send the word to Hawaii where all of Samuel's feet and most of his aircraft.

Wm. K. Stackhouse, 75,
Dies At His Emilie Farm

EMILIE, May 25—A native of Emilie, and a resident here for three-quarters of a century, William K. Stackhouse died at his home early this morning. Illness of two months' duration was due to a heart ailment.

Mr. Stackhouse, who had countless friends and acquaintances, had served the public in the capacity of tax collector for the township in years past. He had also served as a justice of the peace and assessor locally, likewise.

The 75-year-old man was the husband of the late Jennie Brown Stackhouse. He is survived by three sons, Lester W. and Clifford H., who reside at the Stackhouse farm here; and LeRoy B., of Morrisville. Three grandchildren also survive.

The deceased had followed farming since his young manhood, and even in his advanced years took keen interest in the tilling of the land. He was affiliated with Bristol Lodge, No. 25, F. & A. M.; and the Penns Manor Grange.

Funeral will be held Thursday afternoon, with burial in Emilie Cemetery.

GOVERNOR LANDON'S PRINCIPLES SELF-RELIANCE

(New York American)

Mr. Kaltenborn: Governor, what do you think is the greatest need of the American people as they face tomorrow?
Governor Landon: I believe the greatest need of the American people today is a revival of confidence, confidence in themselves and in their ability to work out their own problems.

We find in almost every depression there are a certain percentage of people who lose confidence in themselves.

They begin to doubt whether they are really capable of getting out of their difficulties, and it is usually at this point that someone comes along with the idea of finding a superman and turning it all over to him.—From Mr. Kaltenborn's radio interview with Governor Landon, on May 8.

The answer of Governor Landon to Mr. Kaltenborn's question here sums up the whole case of AMERICAN INDIVIDUALISM versus the doctrine of European dictators—a doctrine which has been transplanted to these shores and has found root in Rooseveltian New Dealism.

The Governor has, like a cool surgeon, cut squarely to the root of the disease that is eating at the vitals of American life—LACK OF CONFIDENCE.

This lack of confidence is caused by an overdose of quack "remedies" of "supermen"—"Brain-Trusters" and autocratic know-it-alls—who believe that by suppressing all healthy and rugged individualism among American citizens and substituting the imported totalitarian theories of schoolboy "supermen" like Tugwell, Wallace, Ickes, Hopkins and Frankfurter the country can be WHIPPED into prosperity.

A decline in morale and possible national bankruptcy have been the answer to these moonstruck visionaries.

ALL GROUP PROSPERITY IN AMERICA IS ABSOLUTELY DEPENDENT ON INDIVIDUAL INITIATIVE.

As Governor Landon points out, the present need is "A REVIVAL OF CONFIDENCE IN THEMSELVES AND IN THEIR ABILITY TO WORK OUT THEIR OWN PROBLEMS."

It is this fundamental American trait—CONFIDENCE IN SELF—that Governor Landon proposes to restore by lifting the burden of taxes and the threat of financial confiscation from the shoulders of business and the workingman.

There was never any excuse for undermining this confidence. It was a sinister political move for indefinite power during a national emergency.

Governor Landon seeks to restore the confidence of the citizen in himself—THE AMERICAN WAY.

For that reason he is—and WILL BE—the one answer to the Raw Deal's NATIONAL DEFEATISM.

NEWTOWN WINS BALL LEAGUE HONORS

Bristol High School IX Drops
Second of Three-Game Series

FINAL SCORE IS 4 TO 0

By Jack Orr

NEWTOWN, May 25—Winnie Hoffmeister, brilliant Newtown High right-hander, blanked the Bristol High School Bunnies with three hits, here Saturday, as the Blue and White captured the Lower Bucks County League honors. It was their second victory over the Cardinal and Gray in the three game series for the title.

The Bristol lads were powerless before the slants of Hoffmeister and the latter breezed through after the Newtown club gave him a run to work on in the fifth and added a trio of tallies in the sixth.

Billy Gallagher opposed Hoff Friday and let the Newtowners down with five bingles but all of these base blows came in the fifth and sixth frames to account for the runs.

After four scoreless innings Billy Sherman started the home half off by beating out his bunt down the line. Scott sacrificed Sherman to second and Dave Nolan drove the Blue and White gardener across with a drive to right.

Three tallies counted in the sixth. With two down, W. Nolan walked. John Janney drove a screeching drive far to center field and scored behind Nolan. It was Janney's third extra base hit of the series making two triples and a home run.

Sherman drove a double far into right and Scott tripled to the same field to account for the final run.

Bristol's only scoring opportunity came in the third. With one out, Gallagher singled to left. Don Sagolla drove a single to center to place men on first and second with one out. But Hoffmeister always stingy with his base hits in the clutches, bore down and whiffed DeLuca and Dick to end the frame.

Johnnie Dick, Johnnie Stallone and Don Sagolla all were playing in their final ball game for the Cardinal and Gray. Dick, a basketball and baseball player, has had a fine year, driving six home runs out of bounds and hitting .545% for the year.

Stallone after a fine start hit a snag when his hitting fell off but Johnnie played fine baseball around the second bag.

Don Sagolla, the only five-letter man in the school, also had a fine year. Hitting .455%. Sag had a wonderful eye for the lead off position and played a great game at the hot corner.

"Smackout" To Be Given By Odd Fellows

"Smackout." That's the name of the show the Odd Fellows are giving at St. James's parish hall, Wednesday evening. All local talent from soup to nuts. "Soup you eat at home and nuts you'll see on the stage," says the advance man.

Some old timers and some new finds among the amateur players will do their stuff by bringing back the days of the old crossroads store, of which St. Slocum is the proprietor and Tilly, his sister, is postmistress.

Hank and Joe, two old Civil War veterans, sit on boxes and quarrel about the war. Snow, who is black, and Slowboy, who is sleepy, upset the potatoes. Tilly reads all the postal cards, learns about Farmer Jaybird's new auto; about the church entertainment and about the return to Greenville of Hiram Plunkitt. Slowboy takes a nap while waiting for his molasses.

Mrs. Ripples, the giddy widow, gives her views of matrimony. She warmly welcomes Hiram and then a burlesque love scene follows. Lillie, Hiram's old flame, offers to help him. Belinda Spokes tells of the coming entertainment. Everybody volunteers to do their stuff. Tilly and Si put on the "dog." Ezra Buttans offers a college song while Mabel Deering gets lost and sings about it. Mrs. Ripples sings about Dixie and Lillie Dotts sits down and writes herself a letter. Ezra recognizes Hiram as a Broadway star, with "Us on a Bus" we find the tramp looking for the big rock-candy mountain.

All female characters will be impersonated by men.

OPENS PARK AND

CADETS ALSO DRILL

Burgess Anderson Tosses Out
First Ball and Wishes
Team Success

Before a large and enthusiastic crowd the Landreth baseball team opened its new baseball park at South Bristol Saturday afternoon and defeated the strong Mt. Holly club 14 to 10.

Previous to the game the American Legion Cadets gave a snappy exhibition drill on the greensward in front of the grandstand, after which both teams were lined up and photographed.

Burgess Clifford Anderson then with a few well-chosen remarks congratulated Manager David Landreth and wished him and his players all the success in the world. Old Glory was raised on a temporary pole on the front of the grandstand and the "Mayor" tossed a new ball to Umpire John Elmer and the game was on.

Erickson, the Vincentown star and considered the best in Burlington County, started on the mound for Mt. Holly and after he was shelled for six innings with base hits which were far, wide and handsome, and 14 runs were piled up, was finally replaced by Durand, a left-hander, who held the "Farmers" in tow for the remaining one and a third innings.

Ed. Sullivan, the Landreth starting pitcher, also failed to go the distance, he being removed in the sixth after allowing six runs and nine hits during his stay on the hill. Jake Praul who relieved him allowed four runs and three hits for the remainder of the game. The three hits made off of Praul were all three-base drives but in justice to Jake two of the three drives should have been caught had Leo Hibbs in right field not lost out in the battle with the sun.

The visitors were the first to score. In the second, after B. Worrell fled out, Moore was hit by pitched ball. M. Worrell hit to left center for two bases. Erickson's single brought in two runners. H. Watson scratched a hit when Sullivan failed to reach first to take Pitko's throw. Shible's hit to left brought in Erickson.

Landreth's tied it up in their half of the third. After Sullivan started by flying out, Rockhill hit to left for two bases. Barrett singled and after Pitko fanned, Pursell hit a home run drive to the railroad bank in left field counting all three runs.

A fielder's choice, Sullivan's two-base hit and Rockhill's single, put the "Farmers" in a deadlock in the fourth, after the Jersey men had gone ahead in their half on two bases on balls and Rossell's hit.

The fifth, the home team once more went to the fore. Pitko started, getting first on H. Watson's error. "Sid" Pursell then to show that his previous home run was no chance blow, placed one between right and center for another homer, scoring Pitko ahead of him.

Mt. Holly again took the lead in the sixth. Erickson led off with a drive far over Hines' head in centre, good for three bases. Heister and H. Watson singled and with a fielder's choice, accounted for two runs. Sullivan was yanked at this juncture and Praul substituted. H. Worrell was passed. Rossell fled to Heftman. B. Worrell fled to right field and made three bases when Hibbs lost the ball in the sun, two runners coming in, making four for the inning.

In Landreth's sixth, Rockhill hit his fourth safety of the game. Barrett singled and went out on Heister's peg to second. Pitko's hit, a home run, deep to left field scoring Rockhill ahead. Pursell's two-base hit and Hibbs' safe drive brought over another counter, and Landreth's were again in front.

A three base hit and an error by Heftman broke the tie in Mt. Holly's seventh.

HITLER'S WAR MACHINE

Quite within the range of probabilities is the guess that Dictator Hitler's venture into extraordinary preparations for war may prove so costly as to bring Germany to the verge of another financial abyss.

One may concede, if one wishes to do so, that the war machine which Hitler has built up is for exclusively defensive purposes. That, however, does not affect the question of the cost of creation or the cost of maintenance. That cost is just as great, whether a vast army and its modern equipment are intended for offense or defense. Being without credit, Germany must bring that machine into existence without outside financial assistance. Germany's own financial power is limited. To be sure, it is augmented by refusal to meet existing foreign obligations, but even that is hardly enough to meet the stress that is laid upon the nation.

All that, of course, is Germany's own business. If that nation, like Italy, looks upon great military expenditures as necessary to its existence, no one can question its right. But having been made, there is presented to other nations the fear of aggressive use in the hope that out of such use some portion of the cost may be laid upon others. And if an example is wanted in support of this belief, this fear if you like, there will be those who will point to Italy.

Dictators who have great armies at their command and who find it necessary to distract the attention of their own people from accumulating distresses have a way of finding excuses for setting those armies into operation for other than defensive purposes. It always has been so; it probably always will be so.

EXQUISITE REVENGE

If the powers continue sanctions, the Italians will get even—and get even at the expense of the English language, which would be the most poetic of justice for perfidious Albion. G. Bernardi, Fascist grammarian, is the man who is working out this exquisite revenge.

Signor Bernardi has asked Premier Mussolini and the Royal Academy to adopt a new Italian alphabet, eliminating all unnecessary letters. He thinks such a measure would enable Italy to reduce imports of paper, lead, ink and other writing and publishing accessories from 10 to 12 per cent.

Of course, the new alphabet would affect Italian spelling primarily and other languages secondarily. But English as the language with the most unnecessary letters (except, of course, Welsh and Gaelic, both spoken in the British Isles) would be hardest hit. And that is as it should be.

Repercussions would be felt in the United States. The letter "w" is regarded by Signor Bernardi as a useless gate-crasher in Italian. So our national capital would become Washington, to all good Fascists. That wouldn't save much white paper or ink. But think of the savings which the Italians can effect if they take to spelling English proper names the way they are pronounced. If only some of the Chomondleys and Tallaferos were in British public life, Churchill and Toller would strike shrewd blows at paper and ink sanctions!

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol, Nov. 19, 1874. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The amount of business done in Bristol is larger than anyone would suppose whose attention was not specially directed to it. Bristol now has three carpet weavers, one plumber and gas fitter, one broom factory, one cigar factory, five mills, two lumber yards, two marble and stone yards, three wheelwright shops, four carpenter shops, one carriage factory, one foundry, two machine shops, four blacksmith shops, three tinsmiths, three saddle and harness makers, two printing offices, two dental offices, three real estate offices, five bakeries, twenty-one groceries and dry goods stores, three flour and feed stores, three drug stores, three clothing stores, four hotels, three hardware stores, five shoe stores, two confectionery stores, eight tobacco stores, two stove stores, two livery stables, eight notion and variety stores, five restaurants, two stationery stores, four millinery stores, six haberdasheries, one trippery store, two jewelers, two furniture stores, three civil engineers, five coal yards, four law offices, five physicians, one photographer, one bank, one insurance company, two insurance agencies. In two of the mills employment is given to between four and five hundred hands, and a number of the other manufacturing establishments each employ from five to ten persons.

The new machine shop between

Pond street and the railroad, is nearly completed.

Seventeen tramps obtained shelter in the basement of the Town House, last Saturday night.

Oliver Harper, of Tullytown, last week finished husking 23 acres of corn which yielded 65½ bushels of shelled corn to the acre.

Mr. James King, on the Bath Road, near Bristol, raised a monster turnip which measures 30 inches in circumference, and weighs seven pounds and 13 ounces.

A tramp, one day last week, took a canary bird from its cage at Mrs. Jarvis's residence, on Radcliffe street, put it in his pocket and walked off. Our people cannot be too particular about keeping everything out of the reach of these stragglers.

The stockholders of the Frankford and Bristol Turnpike Company have elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing year: President, Alexander Biddle; secretary and treasurer, Richard P. Lardner; managers, Henry J. Williams, William Overington, Charles Duthie, John R. Wucherer, Joseph Perot, Anthony E. Stocker, David Lewis, Charles R. King, James C. Fisher, George M. Dorrance, John Lardner, and J. Burd Peale.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has adopted a set of new rules that will be very popular with travellers. Conductors are required to see that all passengers have seats, to expel drunken and disorderly persons from the cars, and not to allow profane language; no tickets are to be sold to intoxicated persons, or those incapable of taking care of themselves; baggage masters are required to handle articles carefully; news agents are not allowed to force their papers and books on passengers, nor will they be permitted to place papers, candies, etc., on the laps of passengers.

HULMEVILLE—Mr. C. K. Dyer has succeeded in securing enough scholars, and his singing class will be formed on next Friday evening at the Y. M. C. A. hall.

The work on the railroad near this place is being pushed forward with vigor. It is divided into 14 sections of one mile each. One section East of Attleboro' is nearly finished. Mr. Barry, the contractor on the section West of the Attleboro' and Hulmeville road, is building a splendid arch bridge over the stream near the old mill. The masonry is a model of its kind; a quarry has been opened on the right of the bridge, from which the aid of derricks, stones of immense size are taken out. The fine weather has greatly aided the contractors, and most of the grading will be finished by Spring.

Lenape Hall, Doylestown, was dedicated last Thursday evening, by a concert under the direction of the Philadelphia Musical Association.

WARMINSTER—On Monday and Wednesday evenings, the 9th and 11th of November last, unsuccessful attempts were made by some person or persons to throw the locomotive from the track of the North East railroad, by placing large piles of rails upon the track, above Hathboro'. Three men employed upon the train live at Hathboro', and they were as usual returning from Hartsville station with the locomotive only, and were travelling at a rapid rate. The engineer states that they would have been thrown from the track if they had been backing down as they sometimes do.

HULMEVILLE

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Codling were Miss Ruth H. Cox and Frank Stan, Chester.

Officers of the Epworth League, elected to serve for the ensuing year, were installed last evening by the Rev. John W. Bartram, pastor of Penns Park M. E. Church, following the delivery of the sermon at Neshaunim M. E. Church, by the Rev. Bartram. The officers are: President, Joseph Everitt; vice-presidents, 1st, Miss Adeline E. Reetz; 2nd, Miss Kathryn Halk; 3rd, Miss Elma E. Haefner; 4th, Ross Buckman; secretary, Miss Frances Benner; treasurer, Miss Betty Lou Lathrop.

A group of friends was entertained Saturday evening by Miss Elma E. Haefner and Harold H. Haefner. A scavenger hunt was followed by a roast in the open. Guests included: the Misses Mary Thompson, Adeline E. Reetz, Marie Hanson, Myrtle Egly; Mrs. Walter Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wesley Haefner and son Donald, Mrs. John Corrigan and son Robert, Hulmeville; J. Berkeley Smith, Frankford; Ferdinand Newhofer, Oak Lane. The Hulmeville W. C. T. U. will meet on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Eli Peck.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Piston and children, Philadelphia, formerly of South Langhorne, visited in Hulmeville, yesterday.

Airfields Give U. S. Command of Pacific

would be concentrated. The fleet would be in Pearl Harbor and the planes would be in various places on the island. There the ultimate expenditure of $18,000,000 on Hickam field will give the United States the greatest military airport in the world, in addition to other army fields already established, and the naval air base at Pearl Harbor.

Military observers are pleased with the moves thus far made by the United States in acquiring the desirable Pacific isles. In the 2400 miles between Hawaii and Samoa—an expanse which lies due east of Japan's Caroline and Marshall groups—Uncle Sam gained possession of Jarvis, Baker and Howland islands.

American guano workers had been there from time to time but old charts listed the islands as British possessions. Last year the Department of Commerce quietly established weather observing "colonies" there. Because of these colonies Great Britain recently conceded America's claim to ownership. Pictures of these islands show they are all flat, coral strips that can be used by land planes almost as nature laid them out.

In the same area are Britain's Fanning and Christmas islands, the former a cable station, the latter a copra plantation. Rumors of a proposed deal with Great Britain, that would bring these under the wing of the United States, are heard in military circles.

Palmira and Kingman Reef, as well as Johnson island, in this same general area, are being appraised closely by Navy men. At these three points nature neglected to build airplane fields of coral and sand, but did throw up coral reefs behind which the water is protected that seaplanes can land and take off while violent storms whip the ocean outside.

Westward from Hawaii Navy seaplanes have based at French Frigate Shoals and Pearl and Hermes reefs, which lie between Honolulu and Midway. Pan-American clipper ships enroute from San Francisco Bay to Manila pass near them in the 1200-mile hop from Pearl Harbor to Midway.

The long flight northward from Hawaii to the Aleutians will have to be made by the big flying boats which the Navy is rapidly developing. These great ships of the air have been used repeatedly in the Hawaiian-Midway area for flights of 1200 miles, and longer, and can make the Hawaiian-Aleutian hop if necessary.

All this means that Uncle Sam can stretch his observation system way out in the Pacific parallel to the United States mainland—a fact more than pleasing to the men at arms who guard the safety of this country.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Ironing Towels

When towels are removed from the line, if they are run through the wringer, they will be quite smooth.

Preventing Tea Stains

A lump of sugar placed in the teapot before the tea is made will prevent discoloration if some tea is spilled.

When Melting Chocolate

Grease the sauce pan in which chocolate is melted as it keeps the chocolate from sticking and can be easily removed. Chocolate should always be melted over hot water as it burns very easily.

Candles in Refrigerator

Candles will burn more evenly and last longer if placed in the refrigerator the day before they are going to be used.

Wall Marks By Pictures

"BLIND TO LOVE" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

SYNOPSIS

Mary Shannon, young and pretty stenographer, is broken-hearted when she learns that James Todd, Jr., is engaged to Nasta Grainger. Mary has known "Jamie" for two years and, though he never committed himself, he inferred that some day they would marry. She tries to hide her hurt feelings from her parents and Aunt Willie. One night, Mary works overtime and her handsome employer, Stephen Bennet, takes her to dinner. He has just been appointed manager of the Seattle office of the A. A. Healey Steamship Company and wants Mary to go as his secretary. She does not want to leave her family. At home, Mary writes "Jamie" asking him to meet her when he comes to town so that she can congratulate him. Next day, at the office, Ethelyn Piper tells Mary that Stephen Bennet is "mad" about Mary. Therefore, when Mary bids Stephen farewell, she is exceptionally cool. When days pass with no answer to her letters, Mary knows she is waiting in vain for "Jamie." Aunt Willie, middle-aged and trying to be young, spends all her money in beauty shops and on diets. Mrs. Shannon is worried about her for she seems to have lost her head over some man she met at a dance. Mr. Samson, Mary's new employer, asks her to go apartment hunting with his wife. Mary finds Mrs. Samson a most attractive young woman and very frank. Mrs. Samson tells Mary she used apartment hunting as an alibi so she could have Mary's company, as she was lonely. They go shopping. Returning home, Mary finds an invitation to "Jamie's" wedding. In the privacy of her room, she sobs over her lost love. Aunt Willie comes to Mary with a tale of woe about being made the victim of a cruel prank.

CHAPTER XI

"Aunt Willie. What happened?"
"Oh, nothing. Nothing except that the girls thought it would be simply killing to send me fake notes, pretending to come from a certain fellow I met at the dance. He was a little backward, and when the hostess introduced all us girls, why, he danced with me and he didn't dance with any of the others."
"And it got Rose sore—see? So when we had a couple of dances together, why, I said, in a casual way such as anyone would, that I would see him afterwards, and Rose heard me and as I say it was her idea of a joke to send out those letters. She's the most to blame! I don't blame the others so much. She's always been jealous of me! Always!"

"And so I—well, I went to meet him where the note said to, and I waited a while like anyone would, and then I—Then I saw the girls were all there, watching—and I've got as much sense of humor as anybody—but I—heh, heh, heh—I pretended to laugh, but I—oh, I'm no MAD! Mary, wouldn't you be mad? Oh, I—I have to laugh! when I—I get—mad—I—"

Between ribs she gasped, "Don't tell Dora, that's all. She—she wouldn't understand—how a girl needs a little fun—and—"

Mary had her arms tight around her now. "Aunt Willie—I know. I know. I know. It doesn't matter. What if they did laugh? People like that aren't worth crying over. They—"

"Oh, you don't understand. I thought they were my friends. And now I can see that they—Well, they told everybody, the cousins, and Mr. Samson himself. It's terribly funny, if you can see the joke, I guess, only I—"

"Aunt Willie—please—please don't—"

Aunt Willie broke away, wiping her staring, red eyes.

"Go to sleep again, Mary. I'm sorry I bothered you. I just had to tell somebody. I—I guess it was funny, all right. . . . Now I guess I'll go to bed. Goodnight."

Twice Mary walked, heard her walking rapidly back and forth in her room, next to her door.

Light from Aunt Willie's window streamed out on the Johnson's lawn next door. She thought of getting up to try to coax her back to bed, but maybe it was better to let her have it out, poor thing. . . . Her eyes closed.

In her sleep she seemed to hear the sound of Aunt Willie's feet running, running away from life.

Everybody was late to breakfast, and Ma was furious because Pa, who was starting off on the road again, insisted on shaving first.

When Mary and Aunt Willie came into the kitchen Pa was leisurely shaving and humming at the sink, and Ma was making hot cakes at the smoky griddle on the stove.

Mary certainly had no appetite, and Aunt Willie didn't seem to, but Ma made them eat the hot cakes, with plenty of bacon.

Aunt Willie had gone off to work, if she seemed all right.

Those confounded girls, humiliating her that way! Aunt Willie, who'd cheerfully worked overtime for every one of them, and given them lovely presents—much nicer than they ever gave her at Christmas time—making sport of her just because she was a little old and funny. . . . when they were no spring chickens themselves. . . .

She could hardly wait to get into the house that night.

"Where's Aunt Willie?"
Ma looked up, tranquilly, surprised that Mary should rush to the kitchen, ask for Aunt Willie before she even got off her coat and hat.

"Why, I don't know. I suppose she's staying a little late. Mary, as long as she isn't here, I wonder if

"Then I saw the girls were all there, watching—" Aunt Willie went on.

Why DID she make such a fuss over breakfast? Nobody wants a big breakfast! Nobody wants anything more than orange juice and toast! But she would fry bacon, and fuss, and if you didn't eat like a farm hand she got mad.

Aunt Willie looked awfully bad. Poor Aunt Willie. She had to have her sleep. You can't stay up all night at her age.

Mary hadn't had much sleep, either, but she looked all right, thank goodness. No one would suspect that she'd been awake half the night crying. No, indeed! No heart on the sleeve for her. Nobody'll ever be able to say that she was all cut up because Jamie Todd got married.

"Now, Willie, don't be stubborn," Ma was begging. "You know it's feed a cold and starve a fever, and if you've got a cold, which you certainly look like, you've got to eat to keep your strength up. Do you think you're well enough to go to work? Don't you think you'd better stay home and let me dose you up?"

"I'll go if it kills me," Aunt Willie said.

Her teeth chattered again.

Mary couldn't get Aunt Willie out of her mind, though it was a busy day, and Mrs. Samson dropped in for a few minutes, too.

But all day long she could see that breakfast scene—with Aunt Willie drooping over her place at the kitchen table, automatically feeding Todd's with her from her plate, heavy eyes, staring into space, silent for the only time in her life.

Twice she had the almost irresistible impulse to call home, to ask if

$30,000,000 WORTH OF BOONDOGGING

The outlined area in the above air view of the city of St. Louis shows thirty-seven square blocks on the river front which it is proposed to clear of all buildings as a site for a $30,000,000 memorial to Thomas Jefferson. President Roosevelt has authorized the expenditure of $6,750,000 of PWA and WPA funds to commence the project. The lower view shows one of the streets which it is proposed to clear of business buildings.

St. Louis, Mo.—The citizens of St. Louis are awaiting with interest the next move in the grandiloquent New Deal scheme to create, out of the funds of the taxpayers of the United States, a $30,000,000 memorial to Thomas Jefferson.

The status of the movement just now is somewhat in doubt. At the present time $9,000,000 is available for the beginning of activities. Of this amount, there has been set aside by order of President Roosevelt $3,450,000 of PWA funds and $5,550,000 of WPA money. The city of St. Louis, which last fall voted $7,500,000 bonds for the enterprise, with the understanding that the government would put up $22,500,000 more, has authorized the issuance of $2,250,000 of bonds.

Will Wreck Business Houses.

A paltry $9,000,000, however, wouldn't begin to do the job. It is proposed to purchase all the land, and wreck practically all of the buildings, on something more than thirty-seven square blocks in the City of St. Louis which are occupied at the present time by many flourishing business institutions.

As things stand today, the secretary of the interior has been authorized by President Roosevelt to take the $9,000,000 and go ahead with the purchase of land and the tearing down of the buildings. But the money available will not much more than suffice for the acquiring of the property needed. Unless Uncle Sam coughs up a lot more money, the Jefferson memorial would be nothing more than a river front parking yard.

Opinion in St. Louis on the whole transaction is badly divided. There is an active organization of business men and taxpayers fighting the whole proposal. There is an equally aggressive group, including prominent Democratic leaders, who are anxious to go ahead, with the hope that once work is started, congress can be induced to finish the job. But congress backed away from the Passamaquoddy dam and the Florida ship canal, and with its ear to the ground may not be ready, at least until after November, to shake loose the $22,500,000 which would be needed to complete the memorial as originally planned.

Jefferson Memorial Already Exists.

Incidentally, St. Louis already has one Jefferson Memorial, erected at a cost of a million dollars. It seems, however, that the exigencies of the New Deal require something more elaborate; in fact, the expenditure in memory of the founder of the Democratic party of twice what was paid for the entire Louisiana purchase. Such, it seems, is the 1936 version of Jeffersonian simplicity.

The present Jefferson memorial in St. Louis is located in Forest park, which offers a total of 1,200 additional sites if it is considered advisable to further honor the founder of the Democratic party. Many St. Louis citizens believe that the funds made available already might be wisely used for a further development of the existing memorial. The proposal, however, to expend $9,000,000 for the clearing of the proposed river front site has aroused a storm of protest. Of course, if the New Deal will loosen up with another $20,000,000 things might be different.

Pigmy Elephants Are With Huge Circus

With one hundred double-length railroad cars, bearing 1500 people, African pigmy elephants, African ponies, seven herds of full-sized elephants, 1009 menagerie animals and 700 horses, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus arrived in Philadelphia today for a week of afternoon and night exhibitions.

The circus is especially excited this season over the amazing success of the Big Show's sensational new super-feature—the first herd of African pigmy elephants (tiny tusked) that years ago attained their full growth) ever to leave the depths of darkest Africa, and the first herd of African elephants ever to set foot in America. The weird midget pachyderms are accompanied by a herd of miniature African ponies, world's smallest beasts of burden. These new importations have taken America by storm.

The Big Show's big top, seating 16,000 persons, covers seven rings and stages, a huge hippodrome track and encircling grandstands, and is one of 31 great tents, among them the menagerie, sheltering the world's largest traveling zoo. In its center this season will be seen Col. Tim McCoy's

Indian Village, with Sioux and Black-foot warriors encamped. Col. McCoy, the screen's most outstanding western star, will himself lead his congress of rough riders of the world in the main performances and in the wild west.

The Greatest Show on Earth offers scores of foreign features this year, including the Naitos, the Royal Bokaras, the Imperial Viennese, an assemblage of 60 free-running horses, ponies and elephants; the largest aerial ballet ever produced. Fresh from Europe are the Walkmirs, the Antaleks, the Buemrangs, the Romeros, the Torrence-Victorios, the Roomeys, aerial novelty sensations. The Royal Repenskis, the Rieffenachs, the Walters, famous bareback riding troupe; the two Guice aerial comedy troupes on the lofty bars; the two renowned Wallenda troupes of high wire thrillers; the Otaris, who fly in mass somersaults from an aerial cross; the Flying Concellos, with Antoinette, only girl to accomplish a two-and-a-half mid-air somersault to a hand-to-hand catch; the Flying Comets; Dorothy Herbert, madcap rider of fearless jumping horses over fire hurdles, and Hugo and Mario, human projectiles—these are some of the most prominent features of the superb 1936 Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey program.

ST. ANN'S OPEN-AIR ARENA TO RE-OPEN TONIGHT WITH TEN FAST AND EXCITING ROUNDS; CAPACITY CROWD EXPECTED

Ten fast and exciting bouts. That is the set-up for the opening outdoor boxing show tonight in the St. Ann's Arena, Wood and Franklin streets. The bouts are sponsored by the St. Ann's Athletic Association and sanctioned by the Middle Atlantic district of the Amateur Athletic Union. The bouts will be the unique way of dedicating the re-constructed arena.

Fans of Bristol and vicinity are expected to jam the arena to capacity as they did last outdoor season when amateur boxing was inaugurated here. At that time there was but a few youths interested in amateur boxing. Now the St. Ann's team possesses over twenty boys who wear their silken togas and all seem willing to meet the best of Philadelphia.

Last night, Charles P. Aita, finance manager of the St. Ann's athletic committee announced that was but thirty reserve tickets left. The general admission tickets will not go on sale until seven o'clock tonight. Aita was in complete charge of the construction on the remodelled arena.

Match-maker Patsey Maffo issued a surprise statement last night when he announced that he closed the George Shell and Vernon Woodland bout. Shell is a novice from Burlington who pulled the surprise of the Camden tournament by beating Woodland, colored battler from Sigma Theta, to win the 126-pound championship. Woodland claimed that he was off that night and has been angling for a return bout since. He will receive his chance tonight and attempt to redeem himself in the eyes of the followers of the amateur game. Shell may join the St. Ann's boxing team next week as well as three other Burlington boys.

Tony Maglione, lanky Purple and Gold fighter, will have his hands full in shooting for his sixth straight victory. Maglione fights Al Hall, Kensington, who hasn't lost a bout in this vicinity and who was the only man to defeat Maglione since the St. Ann's fighter joined the amateur ranks. Al Horn, who packs dynamite covered with leather in a right hand, has a return match with Tommy Pancoast. Two knock-downs gave Horns the decision over Pancoast two weeks ago.

A return bout between Tony Surello, Seymour, and Vince Della, St. Ann's, is also scheduled. Surello holds a triumph over Della and the locality is out to avenge the defeat. Tally Sciarra meets George Lyons, East Side. Lyons was a runner-up in a recent Philadelphia tournament. A newcomer to the local team, Frank Rubino, will fight Joe Regan, an experienced fighter from the Kensington club. Those who have watched the Bristol youth in training, feel that he will score over Regan. Francis Regan, Joe's brother, meets Phil Quici, St. Ann's, who lost his last fight. Willie Leighton, Rescue Squad, meets Frank LaPlaca, Seymour, in a return match.

Harry Graber, East Side, a favorite with the local crowd, has a tough opponent in Charlie Sullick, Kensington. Graber and Sullick fought each other in the tournament in Philadelphia last week and put up a corker of a bout, so Maffo signed them up for the St. Ann's opener. Al Marchetti, the localite who surprised the fans in the last show by kayaking his opponent in the second, meets Tommy Walters, East Side.

The heavy-weight bout on the card is between Eddie Miller, Kensington, and Frank Donofrio, Seymour. Miller, one of the best in Philadelphia, is substituting for Harry Davis, St. Ann's. Donofrio has won two consecutive tournaments, having a close victory over Miller at the arena, recently.

The first bout will go on at 8:30 o'clock, sharp.

At Burlington yesterday Landreth's defeated the Burlington Moose 11-4.

Dann, the home team's pitcher, issued eight passes and was found for 11 hits, including two home runs and a three-base hit, during his tenure on the mound—five innings—resulting in the "Farmers" piling up a nine run lead.

Hines, who pitched for Landreth's team, kept ten hits scattered and breezed along in easy fashion.

The Seeds started the scoring in the first inning. Rockhill dropped a safety in center, but was forced at second when Barrett grounded to P. Pitko. Dougherty reached first on balls. Pursell then took up where he left off the previous day, and lifted one of Dann's shoots over the centre field fence, bringing in three runs. Heftman hit safely to right in the second, advanced to second and third on passed balls and crossed on a wild pitch. Four were tallied in the third. Al Pitko opened with a home run drive over the right-field barrier. Hibbs and Breslin followed with hits and Heftman made three bases, a hit down the right field marker bringing them both across the rubber. Singles by Rockhill and Barrett brought Heftman in, before the side was finally retired, when Barrett tried to stretch his single to right into two bases and was caught, P. Loveland to Elvert.

P. Loveland's error on A. Pitko, a base on balls and Breslin's hit scored a marker in the fourth inning. Two in the fifth were both gifts. Rockhill's hit, a fielder's hit, a fielder's choice and a base on balls to Dougherty loaded the hassocks. Kilpack attempting to catch Dougherty off first threw to right field and both runners scored.

A two-base hit and a single and Dougherty's slip up on P. Pitko's bouncer, allowed Burlington a counter in the opening round. A. Pitko's wild throw, a two base hit and Dann's hit brought in two in their fourth session. Burlington's fourth and final tally came in the last inning. With two gone, Rockhill, in his anxiety to end the game, fumbled Jack's grounder.

'the ship that brought Columbus to America ..and tobacco to the world

History tells us that when Christopher Columbus' sailors took tobacco back home with them everybody hailed it as one of the first new pleasures in years.

Today tobacco gives more pleasure to more people than ever before.

Many different claims are made for tobacco, but most everybody agrees on this...

Smoking is a pleasure and the cigarette is the mildest and purest form in which that pleasure can be enjoyed.

..and now throughout the world smokers are saying
